

Blooming Rose children's books

Is your campus ready to BLAST OFF?!

Local children's book author Lauren Piland would love to visit your campus to engage students with a read-aloud or author presentation of your choice!

Visit options include SEL-based readings from our premiere title, "Blooming Rose Blasts Off!" or our brand new title, "Blooming Rose Finds Her Jam!"

About the Author

As a former elementary teacher, I started noticing the gap in the emotional support and role modeling for young students at home, and its reflection on their wellbeing once at school. This was the main inspiration behind the Blooming Rose series, which features real life experiences and healthy coping strategies in each engaging and relatable story.

My latest venture is The Blooming Books Podcast, which brings relatable chats, special guests, SEL topics & top kid lit picks in each episode. This series and podcast aim to spark meaningful discussions in both homes and classrooms.

what Rose readers are saying...

"So many of my students were inspired to write their own stories after your visit!"
4th grade teacher

"My son really enjoyed you coming and reading to the 2nd graders and was excited to show us the book when he got home. Reading has been a struggle so this is HUGE!"
2nd grade parent
